

Changing the Landscape: Involving Youth in Social Change!

YouthScape, a Canada-wide initiative that engages marginalized youth in community building is proud to share with you the

Changing the Landscape: Involving Youth in Social Change Guidebook!

Through case studies, stories, activities, real life lessons and practical recommendations, this Guidebook offers insights and tools to bring youth engagement to life in organizations and communities.

If you are intrigued by the idea of engaging marginalized youth, this guide will be a valuable tool for you.

It is a must for:

- Practitioners doing front-line work with youth
- Organizations and local governments wanting to engage youth
- Youth leaders seeking new approaches and ideas

Be motivated to challenge your communities with the YouthScape short film:

[YOUTHSCAPE - Building Stronger Communities:
Youth and Social Change!](#)

Inspired by the work of YouthScape, Building Stronger Communities: Youth and Social Change is a valuable tool for you to take youth engagement to the next step.

It captures a group of young people and what they are learning as agents of change. Youth are leading a culture shift that is changing attitudes toward them, from people 'seen as needing instruction' to 'leaders motivating change'.
